The DIMMER VIEW

Fred Hansen 1879-1974

The Passing of Fred Hansen

Fred Hansen's death is Spring Valley's loss. When he died a few days ago at the age of 94, he left his work unfinished.

Just before he turned 90 he confided to this reporter that he was involved in a development that would not be completed for another 35 years.

That's optimism!

The project was the development of a "working man's spa" on the land around Sweetwater Reservoir. He envisioned an area for mobile homes and a larger area for neat and attractive low cost homes for families with lots of kids.

At the periphery would be the more expensive homes. He had the feel for low income families so he had them planned closest to the water.

But a 35 year project at the age of 90! Fantastic!

Hansen had purchased the 1,000 acre Sweetwater Ranch when he came to Spring Valley about 50 years ago. He, more than any other single person, was responsible for whatever order there is in the development of that area.

His spa-dream was not realized but the orderly development of much of the rest of ranch is under way. He sold a bulk of the ranch property to the people developing Rancho San Diego — where a new city is presently rising.

But that development would not have been possible even today without Hansen's pioneering foresight and determination.

Water was the first step. He had a touch with water. He was founder of the La Presa and the Otay Municipal Water Districts which later merged as Otay. Once the water supply was established, he turned his effort to sanitation.

There were those of us who joined with Fred Hansen walking the streets of Spring Valley telling residents of the need for sewers at the time that septic tanks were the way of life. But modernization often comes hard in rural areas, and so it was in Spring Valley. A group, the Mountain-Valley Homeowners comprised of hilltop areas and led by a former English general William Miller, opposed sewers as an unnecessary expense. Living on the hilltops, they appeared unconcerned about the lowlanders upon whose property their effluent drained during the rainy season.

But they were strong antagonists. Hansen, this writer, and Roy Nielsom, an engineer who lives on Costa Bella in Lemon Grove, called meeting after meeting to inform the residents of the need and the danger and urging the passage of a bond issue for a sewer system. The danger became so grave that Dr. J. B. Askew, County Health Director, warned that an epidemic was a possibility after typhoid organisms were shown proliferating in the hillside runoff.

The issue passed and Spring Valley began to grow. So did Casa de Oro which also had the advantage of the widening of Highway 94.

But Fred Hansen held onto his dream of a spa for working families and plans were still on the drawing boards when he died.

Maybe his dream will never bear fruit — maybe it will. His heirs will decide that.

Part of his dream stemmed from his interest in Sweetwater Springs, a spring which still flows copiously from an underground stream at the southwesterly corner of his land.

Hansen once told this writer the story — a story which Hansen was later encouraged to write. It was an intriguing tale.

Sweetwater Spring is natural mineral water and was at one time the largest export of the County of San Diego. It was claimed the water had strange medicinal properties and great quantities of the water were sent by ship to Europe. Hansen's story covers the period of 1887-1927 and the treatment of the story here is but a small segment of the whole.

A ship's captain, Captain Charles Fitzallen, master of the steamship Challenger, fell ill with scurvy. A local doctor suggested the spring water as treatment. He made his way inland to the springs and there regained his health. The captain re-

Budget Tops $4 Millions for First Time

L.G. Schools Tax Rate Cut

A record budget with a reduced tax rate was approved by the Lemon Grove School District Thursday night at the annual budget hearing.

This year's budget is $4,294,362, up $305,000 over the year before.

Although the budget is more than seven per cent higher, the tax rate was cut approximately seven and a half cents for each $100 of assessed valuation.

The new rate is $2.753 as compared with $2.826 last year.

Included in the budget is a six and a half cents salary increase for district employees.

Dr. Robert Sutton, district superintendent, said the reduced rate resulted from an increase in state aid for the district and an increase of approximately 20 per cent in assessed valuation.

The increased budget was the result of inflation, Sutton said. Dental and insurance plans have been added to district employee benefits.

Also being hit by inflation are school lunches. Youngsters through the sixth grade will now pay 40 cents. Those in seventh and eighth grades will pay 45. Both categories are up a nickel.

In other district business the board approved next year's camp program as they have annually.

The board instructed the superintendent to negotiate with the new Golden Grove subdivision under construction at Palm and Sweetwater for the $300-a-unit "impact" charge set by the district.

Man Jailed-Pill Charges

Sheriff's deputies stopped Charles Thomas Rogers, 19, Monday night at Palm and Main streets in Lemon Grove, because his car had an inoperative brake light.

Rogers, who lives at 1515 Tarleton st., Spring Valley, had in his possession 13 white scored tablets, two hand-rolled cigarettes and various paraphernalia for making and smoking marijuana. He admitted ownership of the objects.

An analysis of the pills showed they contained cocaine. The cigarettes were made up of three grams of marijuana. Rogers was jailed on charges of possession of opiates and marijuana.

Two companions in the car were not cited.

Residents of this group will attend Mt. Vernon school. In a similar action, Sutton was asked to contact the developers of 19 units to be built at Imperial and Broadway. These occupants would affect Golden Ave. school.

These reports will be made at the next board meeting.

District Taxes Raised 5 Cents

The Grossmont College trustees voted Tuesday to levy a 5-cent permissive override tax in 1974-75 to insure completion of second campus drawings that have cost the district $268,299, to date. The money would have been forfeited if the override measure had not been passed, thus raising the $367,987 needed in the district to match $448,400 in state funds.

Although the district tax rate is now 84.7 cents per $100 of assessed valuation, the 5 cent override will only raise the overall rate by one cent, due primarily to increased assessed valuation and budget cuts—resulting in a 4 cent tax cut. The district's revenue limit would be 90.8 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

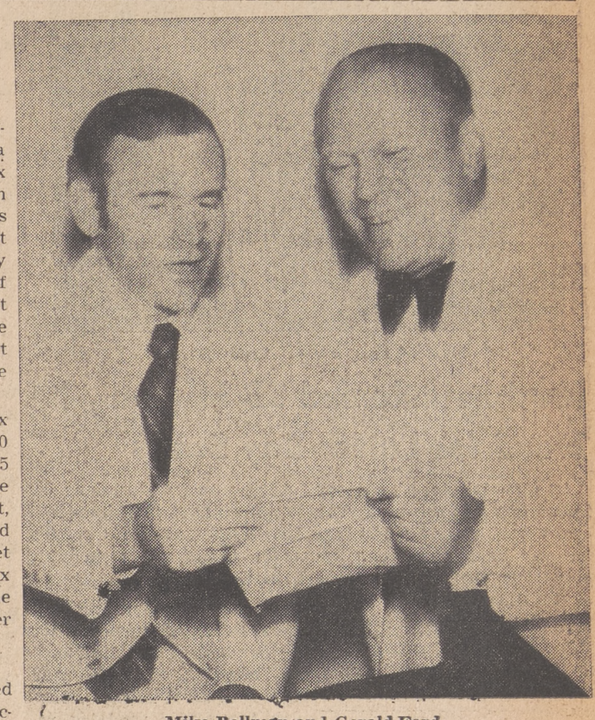

District Option

The district has approved the override measure in accordance with a 1967, Junior College Construction Bill, whereby the override option is available to school districts for school building construction without voter approval.

According to William Burns, assistant superintendent for business, the owner of a $28,000 house, for example, will pay about $3.50 more in tax as a result of the Tuesday vote.

Board Veto

The board vetoed a proposal from Supt. Robert Burnham to levy an additional 5-cent increase to begin site development for the proposed Monte Vista campus. The original date for completion of that site was fixed for fall 1977.

Mike Bollman and Gerald Ford

Bollman, Ford Concur On Inflation Issue

The Vice President of the United States, Gerald Ford, met briefly with State Assembly candidate Mike Bollman prior to the Vice President's appearance at the Republican County Central Committee dinner at the Town & Country hotel.

"The Vice President told me," said Bollman, "that inflation is the big domestic issue throughout the country and I whole heartedly agree."

Bollman went on to say, "since government spending is the biggest contributor to inflation we must be sure that our elected officials do everything to protect the individual's pocketbook in the future.

This is not the time for people to ignore or be apathetic toward the individuals they elect to represent them."

The Vice President appeared on behalf of the Republican candidates at party dinners in a half-dozen states during his latest tour.

Speaking before the Republican Central Committee at the Town & Country fund-raising dinner Ford said, "'We might do better to elect an 'inflation proof' Congress this year, rather than a veto-proof Congress." Ford was referring to the Democratic hopes of electing sufficient numbers of both Congressmen and Senators to make the two-thirds majority in both houses a reality—thus overcoming the Presidential veto-power.

Liquor Sign Damaged

A fluorescent sign atop San Altos Liquor at 1827 Massachusetts, was damaged Saturday night or early Sunday by a culprit who smashed it with an unidentified object.

Robert Lamango, the shop owner, said it would cost $75 to repair the sign and that it was insured.

Grossmont Hospital Leases Brain Scan Device for $114,000

Grossmont Hospital Directors have approved the lease of a radiology device used in brain scans. The device according to Ronald Dahlgren, Hospital administrator, will be in operation within eight months. The EMI scanner will permit recovery of previously unobtainable information relating to brain tumors, blood circulation disorders, trauma injuries and stroke damage in the brain.

The initial downpayment will be $114,500 on a lease plan to be adopted, resulting in a $100,000 annual payments. This will obviate the dangers of outright purchase; those being primarily obsolescence and capital outlay considerations.

The scanner was developed by Central Research Laboratories of EMI Ltd., England.

Hazards Lessened

The scanner will lessen the hazards to patients resulting from injections which are standard procedure with brain scans, sometimes resulting in crippling or death, and always producing discomfort. Dahlgren termed the scanner "non-invasive" because the patient's head is covered by a cap which projects the scan and protects the head.

Patients will be charged approximately $215 for use of the scanner, a cost which includes physician's fee and hospital expenses. This is about one-half the costs of current tests, Dahlgren said.

Grossmont is the first major hospital in the County to acquire the scanner.

Rents Equipment, Can't be Found

Jim's U-Rent is seeking the whereabouts of J. P. Christie, whose last known address was 6469 Imperial ave., Lemon Grove.

Robert B. Serr, operator of the rental equipment firm at 8121 Broadway, told sheriff's men Friday that a man registering as Christie had rented a Bink compressor valued at $418 on June 27.

He said he had been unable to locate him after the equipment became overdue.

SV Man Held on Drug Sale Attempt

A Federal Judge has ordered a Spring Valley man held in lieu of $65,000 bond in connection with possession of 1 pound of heroin.

Humberto Cueva Rodriguez, 27, of 8855 Lance ave., Spring Valley, was arrested last week in a San Diego motel room where he had arranged a meeting to sell the heroin—to an undercover Federal Narcotics Officer, for $30,000.

Store Safe Break-In

Sheriff's deputies suspect that it was a professional who opened the safe at Broadway Hardware Friday and took $680.

The store, at 7846 Broadway, has recently been purchased by Olin and Dortha Thompson. The safe in which the money was put was on "day lock" and the person who opened the safe is suspected of having knowledge about such devices.

The money had been stockpiled over the past weeks by the Thompsons to help defray the cost of an operation Mrs. Thompson's mother is to undergo soon.

The safe is in plain view of sales area and it is presumed that the thief had to operate rapidly while all of the store's employees were momentarily distracted.

Simple Police Work Solves Bowlero Burglary

It was Lemon Grove "Scotland Yard" time earlier this week in local police circles. Simple police procedures solved the case in a single day.

The Lemon Grove Bowlero had been burglarized on Monday. A thief had pried open a louvered window with a screwdriver. Keys left by the janitor had been used to open a desk from which 20 silver half-dollars were taken. Coin operated machines had been broken open and the money taken.

The only lead was the janitor's report that he had lost his keys.

Who dunnit? The janitor? No!

On Tuesday, investigation by sheriff's deputy Paul Nevills revealed that a 20-year old bowler frequently stayed behind to aid the Bowlero janitor. He had been observed in the Bowlero parking lot on the night of the burglary.

Nevills simply tracked down these leads and found the suspect asleep in his car in front of his home at 3275 New Jersey st., Lemon Grove. Nevins asked him to open the trunk of his car. A screwdriver, the size used to pry the louvered windows was in it. He asked the suspect to open the glove compartment. There was a bag of coins including 20 silver half-dollars. About $124 was the total.

There were also several balloons, the type used to carry heroin, in the compartment.

Enroute to County Jail for booking, John Joseph Keough, 20, the suspect, was asked if he did it. He said "yes."

Keough, unemployed, is scheduled to be arraigned this week.

Grove Musicians Have 'Faith' in Guitars

Guitarist Tony Louscher, 17, is one of 10 employees at the American Dream Music Co. on Lester st. in Lemon Grove.

"The company," says Tony, "designs, constructs, repairs and refinishes guitars. We can do inlay (decoration) work that large concerns won't bother with — moreover, we can offer custom made guitars, at probably the most reasonable prices around."

The shop itself is unassuming. A ply-board business sign tilts against the outer-bulkhead at ground-level. The entry point, ostensibly for customers, isn't really wide enough for both man and guitar. For this reason one might prefer the double-slide garage door in the alley. This, while not necessarily the sling and rod of outrageous ownership, is an example of how the bosses feel. The staff might depart for other places if it disagreed.

Both groups prefer the simplicity of cement floors, few chairs, a large work area, and precious little office space. The magnificent box guitars that "American Dream" workmen make, best illustrate exactly how time is spent.

Inside, employees are hammering, sanding, measuring and talking to individual customers.

GUITARIST — Tony Louscher strums — better, listens to — a guitar that he has been working on. An employee of the American Dream Music Co., Tony doesn't just sit and pick. He stands, too.

Tony was discussing a possible inlay design with an abalone frontier as I was sliding out the door, confident that I had spoken to my future craftsman, when I too, take up the guitar. (crdc)

Attorney Pleads Innocent to Pandering Charge

August 22 has been set as the preliminary hearing date for La Mesa attorney Francis Joseph Bloomingdale, 37, who was charged with pandering at a service club election party June 12 at La Jolla Village Inn.

Bloomingdale pleaded innocent Friday and posted $1,000 bond. The district attorney's complaint said Bloomingdale arranged for two masseuses to take part in an election campaign for certain members of the 20-30 Club, a service-type organization.

The complaint also indicated that the women were to arrange with the men for sexual acts. San Diego Police also arrested several other persons attending the party.

County Board of Supervisors Deals with Avocado Thefts

The San Diego County Board of Supervisors passed an ordinance Tuesday that would attempt to deal with the rash of avocado plant thefts plaguing county growers.

It is expected that the ordinance will be adopted by Aug. 13, after a 5 day challenge period has expired.

The ordinance specifies that any individual transporting avocados must have a statement of ownership prepared and in his or her possession. A copy of this statement must be delivered to each packer, wholesaler, and retailer.

The ownership statement must include points of origin, destination, in addition to the date transportation began and the estimated time of delivery.

Under terms of the ordinance, any peace officer, with probable cause, may stop the transporter and inspect the goods. If the officer believes the individual is in illegal possession, he may seize the goods without a warrant.

The avocados will be turned over to the sheriff who will provide a refrigerated storage (at approximately 40 degrees) place upon receipt.

Any seized avocados will be released to the owner upon proof of ownership and after payment of storage.

If avocados are not released after 5 days the sheriff may sell the plants at a public auction.

Proceeds from the sale will be held for 6 months during which time the funds will be deposited in the county general fund.

During the six months, however, the rightful owner may cliam the proceeds, less storage and sale charges, and upon proof of ownership.

"Anyone wtih diabetes is invited to a five-night course, given once a month, including sessions led by physicians, nurses, dieticians and social workers," said Mrs. Sheperd.

Zoo Tissue Bank May Preserve Animals

A tissue bank which has been established at the San Diego Zoo will be used initially for animal chromosome studies and as an aid in animal reproduction, it was announced today.

Dr. Kurt Benirschke of the UCSD School of Medicine described the concept of a tissue bank which will allow study of animals' chromosomes from skin samples and storage of sperm for artificial insemination.

Benirschke, professor of reproduction medicine at UCSD, is also chairman of the Zoo's research committee and a member of the Zoo's committee on conservation through reproduction. His concept of a Zoo tissue bank has been under discussion for several years and has finally become a reality with the purchase of the equipment necessary to start the tissue bank.

The bank, housed at the Zoo's hospital, is a project of the committee on conservation through reproduction, chaired by Dr. Purvis Martin, a San Diego gynecologist.

"This is the first tissue bank started by any zoo, so far as we know," said Sheldon Campbell, Zoo trustee and a member of the conservation through reproduction committee. "The concept has all kinds of exciting possibilities, but perhaps the most intriguing is the idea of creation of a 'frozen zoo' today which might someday enable us to reproduce species which have become extinct."

UW/Chad Goal Is $8 Million

San Diego County residents will be asked this Fall to raise $8,033,980 for the support of 90 human care and nine health agencies sharing in 1974's United Way/CHAD First Combined Campaign.

The combined goal—17.3 percent higher than was pledged last year to the two then-separate appeals — was approved this week by a special joint committee representing United Way and CHAD (Combined Health Agencies Drive).

Earlier this month CHAD and United Way leaders had recommended an $8 million-plus goal as the minimum amount needed to sustain vital, non-health and human care programs of their constituent agencies.

Subsequently, the United Way Board of Directors authorized a goal which would permit allocations to United Way agencies of no less than 12½ percent more than had been granted this year. The goal adopted this week reflects this proviso.

The 1974 combined campaign of United Way and CHAD will cover only San Diego County's business and professional establishments, and city, county and state employees.

Not included in the combined effort are residential campaigns, membership enrollments and individual gift solicitations, as well as traditional fund raising events sponsored by the constituent agencies, which will continue as heretofore.

Aaron to Lead Rose Parade in 1975

Henry Louis "Hank" Aaron, baseball's all time home run king and Atlanta Braves star, has been named Grand Marshal of the 1975 Tournament of Roses Parade in Pasadena, Calif.

The announcement of Aaron's selection was made by Tournament President, Paul G. Bryan.

The 86th annual parade will be staged on January 1, 1975.

"We are extremely pleased to have Hank Aaron as our Grand Marshal," said Bryan. "It seems to be particularly appropriate with our theme, 'Heritage of America,' to have a representative of baseball—a sport which is certainly an important part of our heritage."

Aaron is the only baseball notable to ever be selected as Grand Marshal—and the second sports figure. Golf great Arnold Palmer was feted in 1965.

College Hosts Public Religion Program Here

Grossmont College will sponsor a Religious Emphasis Week which will include open accessibility of students to religious views of all persuasions. Musical programs and public presentations of prominent speakers are also scheduled. A follow-up of Religious Emphasis Week on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, September 20, 21 and 22 will focus the student's attention to giving some of their time to public services in the community.

All Faiths

An action committee representing campus and community religious views has been formed and will plan all events and programs during the special religious week. Members include Dr. Gary Stafford, president, San Diego Evangelical Society; John Sims, vice president, Associated Students of Grossmont College; Dwain Huff, education officer for the Institute of Religion and James Gomes representing the campus religious organizations.

"Religious clubs and religious fellowship are common enough on community college campuses, but it is unusual for a college to work toward the broadest possible representation by religious denominations," stated Dean of Student Activities John A. Burdick, coordinator for the week of planned religious activities.

YOU AND YOUR PET

by: Raymond A. Minor, D.V.M.

If you're the proud owner of a purebred cat or dog, the idea of breeding your pet or perhaps even opening a kennel may have crossed your mind.

But beware! Running a successful kennel or cattery is quite different from keeping two or three household pets.

First, there is the matter of space. If you intend to raise dogs, you should have a run for each adult animal. Keeping the animals separated reduces the possibility of unwanted pregnancies, and allows you to keep accurate breeding records.

Properly constructed runs and kennels will go a long way toward keeping your dogs healthy. A dry, sunlit run will provide few places where mites or fungus can grow to infest your dogs. And a sturdy house will eliminate drafts that can reduce your dogs' resistance to infection. Under these conditions, most breeds can be housed outdoors all year, provided they have an insulated refuge for rainy or extremely cold weather.

A kennel should have maternity quarters where a new litter can rest quietly with the mother, away from noise and other animals. Special care for mother and litter includes increased feeding, warmer temperature and services such as tail or ear cropping.

If your pups must have their ears or tails cropped to conform to the breed standard, leave the job to your veterinarian. These are minor surgical procedures, but they should be handled by a professional. Tails are usually docked on three-day-old puppies, when the bone is still soft. Ears can be cropped several weeks later.

There is a distinct advantage in having a veterinarian arrange to administer regular care to all your kennel stock. Certain viral infections can run through an entire animal colony, and a veterinarian will be able to control such a problem more efficiently.

Many of these suggestions also apply to the cat breeder. Although the cattery will probably be completely indoors, special attention should be given to keeping the area dry and well-ventilated. Cats kept in groups are especially prone to upper respiratory infections, so a cattery that is well-ventilated, but not drafty, is recommended. Some breeders with large numbers of cats prefer solid partitions between individual animals, so that respiratory infections cannot be passed on by nose-to-nose contact.

And before you start your kennel or cattery, check the zoning laws in your community. In residential areas, kennels and catteries are sometimes not permitted.

Zoo Site of Coffee Plant

The San Diego Zoo became the site for the largest public planting of exotic coffee trees in California when Edward Bransten, MJB Company president, gave 100 young trees to the Zoo today.

The Fern Canyon site for the young, six-inch-high trees was selected because they require shade and good air drainage, according to Mr. Chew. The canopy of Jacaranda trees and the sloping hillside in Fern Canyon provide these requirements.

The coffee trees are of the species arabica which grows in Central and South America. They will reach a height of ten to twelve feet when full-grown.

Berkeley Ph.d. Studies Women in Prison for Government

If advocates of women's rights wanted to make a point, they might argue that very little has been studied about the status of women in prison.

They could say that the stereotype of a prisoner is always a man and that public discussions of the problems of inmates have generally focused on the man incarcerated behind the prison walls.

"The women in prison are the forgotten people," argues Dr. Ruth Glick, director of a new study of women in corrections throughout the nation.

The women's correctional study is being funded through a $293,025 grant awarded this month to the California Youth Authority by the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration of the U. S. Department of Justice. The study will take 18 months.

"There is an assumption," Dr. Glick said, "that if a prison program works for a man, it will for a woman. But we know this is not always the case. Women's needs, motivations and job opportunities are far different from men's. We need to know precisely what these differences are and what can be done to improve correctional programs for women."

Curriculum Set Up

Dr. Glick, a Berkeley educator and author, joined the Youth Authority three years ago as director of another federally-funded project—a family life education program. She and her staff set up a curriculum to teach Youth Authority wards the basics of family planning, and the program is now being taught at all CYA institutions and to wards on parole.

In the study on the status of women in prison, Dr. Glick said she will have a staff of three in California and will be supported by other Youth Authority staff as needed, as the study goes ahead. Her tentative plan, she said, is to select nine states—with a field investigator in each—for an in-depth study of women's correctional programs. These, she said, will provide a cross section of the picture for the entire nation.

"We will investigate the entire correctional scene," Dr. Glick said, "including prisons, jails, women on parole and women in community - based correctonal programs."

Needs Not Met

The study comes at a time when the crime rate involving women has been increasing, with a resulting growth in the number of women sent to prison. There has been some public attention on women offenders recently in part because of the involvement of women in well-publicized criminal activities. But most women in prison, Dr. Glick said, are unknown to the public and have needs for rehibilitation that frequently are not being met.

Conclusions will be descriptive, rather than evaluative—that is, they will provide a picture of women in correctional programs and what programs are provided for them, rather than recommend solutions. The study will attempt to identify the major factors that need to be taken into consideration in planning new programs for women offenders.

Other objectives of the study are these:

1. To develop a nationwide statistical data base of women offenders, including their total population and characteristics.
2. To set up definitions and categories to fill in gaps which now exist in recording information on female offenders.
3. To describe a sample of existing institution - based correctional programs for women, taking into account such factors ts facilities, staffing patterns, location of facilities, and statistical description of the inmates.
4. To identify the special problems, if any, of the woman offender—as seen by the offenders themselves as well as the community and correctional staff.
5. To describe current trends in community - based correctional programs for female offenders.

Sewing and Cooking

Dr. Glick said preliminary studies have indicated a dearth of programs for women in correctional institutions—particularly at the county level, where relatively few women are incarcerated. In such facilities, she said, institution officials simply keep women apart from men prisoners—with no programs designed for them—and the woman offender is left to simply serve out her time.

Traditional programs for women—such as sewing and cooking — are no longer especially relevant because they do not help them prepare for jobs in the community when they are released from prison, she added.

"If we are to help women in prison, in the same way as men, we have to know more about them and their needs," Dr. Glick said.

Before joining the CYA in 1971, Dr. Glick served as assistant director of a Ford Foundation-financed language project in Uganda, after which she wrote a book, "Language in Uganda." She also has written "Decisions — A School Health Education Program" and was an elementary school teacher for eight years.

Dr. Glick and her husband, Eugene, a gynecologist, make their home in Berkeley with their three sons, ages 16 to 21.

This Week's RECIPE

Searching desperately for new recipes to help fight the high cost of living?

Here's an idea which is not only easy on the budget, but easy to prepare.

CHICKEN CASSEROLE

2 cups cooked chicken, diced
½ tsp. Worcestershire sauce
1 can cream of chicken soup
1 cup shredded Swiss cheese
1 small can peas, drained
¼ cup diced pimiento
¾ cup sliced almonds

Combine chicken with all the ingredients, except almonds. Place in buttered casserole. Top with almonds and bake at 350° for 35 minutes, or until bubbly throughout. Serve on top of rice, baking powder biscuits, or toast. Serves four.

And if you use a casserole, you can cook, serve and store the leftovers all in the same utensil.

Retail Clerks Join Pharmacist Protest

Norman Heard, Deputy Trustee of Retail Clerks Union Local 1222, has joined leaders of other Southern California Retail Clerks locals in opposition to the State Board of Pharmacy's proposed rule to allow unlicensed personnel to fill and compound prescription medication.

"The proposed change, which would permit unlicensed people to handle prescription medication under the supervision of a pharmacist, would reduce the number of pharmacists available at a retail outlet and reduce the quality of service to the public," Heard said. Current law requires that only licensed pharmacists fill prescriptions and handle drugs.

Heard said he has the full support of Local 1222's Professional Division, made up exclusively of licensed pharmacists, in opposing the proposed amendments. Pharmacist representatives of Local 1222 participated in a hearing in Los Angeles to add their protest to that of other pharmacists, including many non-union pharmacists, as well as unions and consumer groups.

"Registered pharmacists should be available to answer questions and to assure the public that they are receiving the highest level of prescription accuracy," Heard added. He urged the public to register their protests against the proposed ruling to the State Board of Pharmacy in Sacramento, noting that "this represents an attempt to profit from a reduction in the quantity and quality of professional services to the public in the proper filling of prescriptions."

Grand Jury 'Indicts' County Jail Facilities, Operation

An interim County Grand Jury report has described the County jail as a "dangerous place" for both guards and inmates, in its 17 page summary submitted to Presiding Superior Court Judge James L. Focht.

The report further states that drug misuse is prevalent and pointed out the ease with which inmates can acquire "downers" (transquilizers)—by simply reporting for daily sick call.

Recreation

In another section the report alludes to the lack of recreational facilities at the jail and cited one case, based upon an official complaint, where one entire floor of prisoners had not been given an opportunity to go to the rooftop recreation area for several weeks.

"Since the complaint related to a severe beating inflicted upon one inmate by another," the report said, "the theory comes to mind that if recreational facilities are not provided, the inner force present within human beings will find other outlets."

The jurors also noted that the jail was "seriously understaffed," noting an acceptable ratio of jailors to prisoners is 1 to 25. In March, the ratio was 1 to 78.

Sheriff Aware

When advised of the report Sheriff Duffy said that "this Grand Jury report, like every one before, recognizes the problem. I totally agree with their comments." The concept of branch jails was approved in 1963, but plans have been delayed since that time due mainly to the dearth of monies.

The sheriff noted that a 290-inmate jail in Vista will be incorporated into a larger court and probation office facility, but ground has not yet been broken. The plan would be further delayed, the sheriff said, if a bond issue "...was the result, because multi-million dollar bond issues are destined for failure."

Various health, safety and recreational proposals were made to improve the current situation.

Mail Bag

DEAR EDITOR:

I am late in writing this note of thanks to you, but as you know, immediately after the Primary the Legislature reconvened and thus I had a time problem. I guess it will get worse.

First of all, thank you for your time and interest in me and my plight during the Primary, and thanks, too, for your editorial response.

In addition to the thanks, there's a very interesting statistic to report which proves the legitimate power of print journalism. In late April, two polls showed that my "Flournoy's Complaint" was real—Jim Flournoy led by 2 to 1 (23% to 11% and a whole bunch undecided). Then editorials and columns appeared and the results were literally reversed except in Humbolt and Del Norte counties. In those counties no metropolitan paper circulates and I made no contact with the Eureka Times-Standard nor the Del Norte Triplicate. In those two counties in this abstract situation Jim Flournoy won by almost 2 to 1 (Humboldt—54% to 33%; Del Norte—57% to 29%).

Pollution Control Seeks Court Aid

San Diego County's Air Pollution Control District (APCD) will go to court to justify its refusal to grant permission to Atlantic Richfield Company (ARCO) to install gasoline vapor recovery equipment.

Superior Court Judge Charles W. Froehlich recently issued an Alternative Writ of Mandate which requires that APCD either issue the permits to ARCO or show cause why the permits should not be issued.

According to Deputy County Counsel Arne Hansen, there has been no court determination concerning ARCO's complaint. Hansen also reported that at present the Court has not imposed a requirement that the permits be issued to ARCO.

County Health Care Agency Administrator Frank Panarisi says APCD feels the proposed vapor recovery system does not meet the County's strict requirements. Panarisi indicated that uness there was some change in County policy, the County would support APCD's decision and hold the court hearing.

'Foreign Aid Cut Can Balance Budget'—Cranston

Senator Alan Cranston (D., Calif.) said that Congress can balance the federal budget "in a single stroke by wiping out all or most of the $5.1 billion in foreign aid slated to go to authoritarian regimes abroad."

Cranston reported that "with the military coup in Cyprus, there are now 57 authoritarian governments that will receive military and economic aid if the Nixon Administration has its way."

He said the $5.1 billion for these countries — the bulk of the Administration's overall $7.5 billion proposed aid program for 94 foreign countries —"will underwrite repression and militarism abroad while contributing to budget deficits and inflation here at home."

Cranston pointed out that because of increased tax revenues due to inflation, Kenneth Rush, chief Presidential economic advisor, and Roy L. Ash, director of the Office of Management and Budget, have sharply revised downward earlier estimates of a $10 billion budget deficit this year.

"They now anticipate a deficit of only $4 or $3 billion, and perhaps just $2 billion," Cranston said.

"Congress could balance the budget with one stroke by sharply paring down the $2.6 billion scheduled to go to those 57 nations in the form of military aid and the $2.5 billion they are supposed to get in so-called economic aid."

"Most of that economic aid," Cranston charged, "is actually disbursed for military or diplomatic reasons and the money lands in the banks of the affluent instead of in the hands of the poverty-stricken.

"Many of those 57 repressive governments are already using American money and American-supplied weapons to terrorize and subjugate their own people," Cranston said. "Billions of dollars in tax money from workers and businesses in the U.S.—a free society—are helping finance the suppression of democracy in various parts of the so-called non-Communist or Free World."

Lemon Grove Man Heads Convention

Wallace Likely A.I.P. Presidential Nominee

The American Independent Party meets in Chicago this weekend amid speculation that Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama will again be the party's nominee for President in 1976.

A Lemon Grove man, William K. Shearer, of 8160 Palm st., is A.I.P. National Chairman. He seid that if Gov. Wallace is to seek the presidency at a general election, it will have to be as the American Independent Party candidate.

"I do not believe the Democratic Party is structured so that the governor can win its presidential nomination. We are keeping the option open for a Wallace candidacy on our ticket.

Appreciation was formally expressed to Wallace last September at the A.I.P. convention in South Carolina for his 1968 A.I.P. candidacy.

Shearer said he is encouraged by the party's development since the 1972 presidential campaign. "More and more Americans," he says, "are realizing that the A.I.P. speaks for the majority of the people, the hard working, law abiding, productive, taxpaying citizens who constitute the strength of America, and whose views are generally ignored by the professional politicians of the old, established parties.

"In Nevada, this year, in five weeks time, the party secured enough signatures to again qualify for the ballot. It took a year in 1968. In Indiana, and South Carolina, the party has won support from elements of organized labor. In Illinois and New Mexico, the A.I.P. has secured significant support from the Spanish speaking communities.

"These are gains which the political prognosticators said were impossible a year ago," Shearer says. "Americans who are tired of inflation, gasoline shortages, foreign give-aways, and higher taxes, are looking for new political answers. They are finding them in the American Independent Party, "Shearer said.

Maybee Heads Charity Dinner

Honorary chairman of the San Diego Big Brothers annual fund-raising Gourmet Dinner has been named, according to Michael Feinberg, general chairman of the October 7, event.

John C. Mabee, founder and president of Big Bear markets, has accepted the appointment Feinberg said.

The event, with its goal of 400, is scheduled for October 7 at the Town and Country Convention Center. Proceeds of the annual $200-a-plate banquet raises the major portion of operating expenses for the privately-funded agency that provides friendship and guidance through adult male volunteers for 'fatherless' boys 8 to 16 years of age.

Founded in New York 70 years ago, the Big Brothers movement was organized in 1961. The program is now active in over 200 U. S. and Canadian cities.

Many judges and law enforcement officials have cited Big Brothers as an effective anti-delinquency effort in the face of the constantly rising divorce rate that leaves so many boys out of contact with an adult male role model.

Suspected Beetle Triggers Concern

A suspected Japanese beetle has been found in the San Diego area, the second since the state and county began an extensive program this summer to rid the area and the state of this highly destructive insect pest.

He said an area one-tenth of a mile square around the latest find will be treated as soon as it has been confirmed that the insect found is indeed a Japanese Beetle. The beetle is being taken to the State Department of Food and Agriculture's laboratories in Sacramento for analysis.

The Japanese Beetle is one of the most devastating of insect pests. It feeds on nearly 300 kinds of plants, and is an extreme threat not only to the state's $7 billion agricultural industry but to home gardens, parks, golf courses, and lawns as well.

Various musical programs will be featured.

'Dames at Sea' is Fine Summer Fare

By Max Goodwin

Don Wortman and Tom Hartzog picked just the right thing for their Off Broadway hot-weather fare.

They chose "Dames at Sea" which co-stars Jane Kean ("Trixie" in "The Honeymooners" on the "Jackie Gleason Show") and Johnny Downs, star of teevee, movies and Broadway shows.

From curtain up to curtain down the show is fun because it's all a heavy-handed spoof of those great stage musicals of the '30's.

The plot is—well, what's the difference? It has a theater-hardened star (Jane Kean) who is both tough and soft. She is tough when it comes to competition and soft with men. Counterbalancing her performance is a young, starry-eyed, innocent girl (Jennifer Williams) and the most affable Navy captain (Johnny Downs) we've ever seen.

Earl La Martiniere, a producer, is trying to stage a musical with the last of his bankroll. Before he can open, WPA is demolishing the theatre building to make way for a slum clearance project.

A couple of sailors, Terry Walker and Robert Corff, are smitten with the loveliness of Miss Williams and Dee Ann Johnston although Miss Kean is ruthlessly on the prowl for Corff, who is in love with the young, innocent, starry-eyed Miss Williams.

As the theatre collapses before the bulldozers, the two sailors suggest making it a U.S. Navy production. Eventually the captain and Miss Kean meet, and discover they have been romantically involved with each other. That was when she was a chorus girl and using a different name. But the spark is still there.

Enough of a spark to get the show staged aboard a battleship.

Miss Williams finds the captain's generosity and interest enough to cause her to halt her pursuit of Miss Williams' sailor and allow that on again-off again romance to resolve itself properly. Dee-Ann's romance with her sailor has had ups and downs ala most boy-meets-girl theatre affairs.

The cliche-laden, tongue-in-cheek production rates from very funny to hilarious—if you don't take it seriously.

When it is over, you are up. There are none of those worrysome after-show decisions as to what the authors had in mind. In this, the authors—George Haimson and Robin Miller—had only one object—fun.

The music is part parody and part tuneful memorable and the Doug Nye aggregation does it well. The lyrics twit the theatre out of yesteryear but the score features a couple of numbers that linger.

If you are ready for a musical that is a farce on all the early musicals, then "Dames at Sea" is ready for you. When you go, hang loose. Then you'll absorb the bountiful supply of fun that "Dames at Sea" intended for its audience. The show is presented daily until September 1.

S.V. Bobby Sox in National Playoffs

By Paul Stark

The Spring Valley Bobby Sox major All Stars captured the district and area championship and now are headed for Buena Park for the national Bobby Sox tournament starting August 17.

They reached their destination the hard way.

They came back from an opening day loss to win seven straight including three double headers.

On July 27 lack of hitting and a momentary lapse of fielding were the main problems for the All Stars as they lost 1-0 to Chula Vista.

Jenny Stallard was overpowering, fired a one-hitter and fanned 13. The only run came in the seventh but it cost the game.

In other first round games Chula Vista with an 18 hit attack beat La Jolla 14-1, Vista beat Lemon Grove 8-1, El Cajon downed La Mesa 8-4 and Serra Mesa shutout Carlsbad 12-0.

On Sunday Spring Valley had the day off to solve their problems but in the second round of the tournament La Mesa eliminated Lemon Grove 6-5, La Jolla ousted Carlsbad 10-5, Vista downed El Cajon 5-3 and Chula Vista on a one hitter by Lucy Caserez shut out Serra Mesa 1-0.

Spring Valley, on Monday assaulted two La Mesa pitchers for 11 runs on 16 hits for a 11-2 win. Michelle Moore and Dorene Stallard combined on a two hitter, fanned seven and walked two for the win.

The All Stars started a hitting assault in the first inning when they scored six runs on seven hits, including a three run double by Moore, and a home run by Wendy Freed to lead 10-2.

In other third round games El Cajon eliminated La Jolla 2-1 and Chula Vista nipped Vista 2-1.

Beats Serra Mesa, Vista

On Tuesday the All Stars played the first of three straight twinbills with a 1-0 win over Serra Mesa and with an 18 hit attack beat Vista 8-3. Vista shutout El Cajon 7-0 for the right to play Spring Valley in the second game.

Miss Hilton then stole second and went to third on a wild pitch and scored when Mona Shoemaker lined a single over the leftfielder's head for a 1.0 win. In the first game Stallard hurled a no hitter, fanned 10 and didn't walk a batter for the win.

In the second game the All Stars, down 3-1 going into the fourth, took advantage of a double by Freed and three errors to tie the game. Rhonda McClellan gave the all stars the lead with a double.

Denise Christensen and Hilton led the 18 hit attack for Spring Valley.

On Wednesday the All Stars faced Chula Vista who had won four games in a row. S.V. won the first game 6-2 and came back to beat Debbie King 3-1 for the championship.

In the first game the all stars erupted for five runs on four hits and an error to lead 6-1. Beth Kelly's key hit helped.

Stallard fired a three hitter, fanned nine and walked three.

Denise Christensen, in the second game, won for Spring Valley, hitting a two-run home run.

Dorene Stallard made only 56 pitches in disposing of Chula Vista as she fired a four hitter and fanned three in pitching the All Stars to the championship.

Thursday, the All Stars won, 4-1, over Clairemont with Stallard pitching. In the second game they beat Santee 3-2 for the area championship and a trip to Buena Park.

Highland Games Set

The athletic program will include crowd-pleasing events such as the ancient tossing of the caber, an 18-foot pole of Caledonian fir weighing up to 120 pounds.

VFW Sells

VFW Post 2082 will be sponsoring a parking lot rummage sale at 2885 Imperial ave., Lemon Grove.

The sale will be August 24 and will be held from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m.

N.Y. Jets to Test Prothro's Chargers at 8 O'clock Saturday

The New York Jets are next.

Charger Coach Tommy Prothro, fresh from a victory over the San Francisco 49ers, said he was pleased but not satisfied with his team's initial outing.

But he had a winner. So did the New York Jets Coach Charley Winner.

The two leaders will send their teams against each other Saturday night at 8 o'clock at San Diego Stadium. Prothro recorded a 20-6 win while Winner's team thumped the Denver Broncos 41-19.

Last week, with 18,870 in the stands, the Chargers did what other teams have generally been doing to them. A 93-yard interception return by Ray Baylor was the most dramatic. Glen Bonner crushed through for a one-yarder and Bo Matthews made the third of three on a two-yard run.

Matthews rushed 15 times for 71 yards. Jesse Freitas completed 5 of 12 passes for 46 yards. Harrison Davis caught two passes for 17 yards and ran 56 yards on a reverse.

Middle linebacker Charles Anthony made 13 tackles; linebacker Don Goode made 11 tackles and blocked a PAT, and tackle John Teerlinck made nine tackles and had one of four Charger quarterback sacks.

How does it feel to run 93 yards for a touchdown in your first game against NFL competition?

"It was a big thrill," said Ray Baylor. "While I was running, I kept thinking, 'don't drop the ball, don't trip, don't get caught'."

The big play was set up when Charger linebacker Mike Lee jarred 49er quarterback Tom Owen on a pass attempt and the ball popped into the hands of Baylor.

Baylor, 6-3, 263, a free agent from Texas Southern, scored one other touchdown. It was for the Okinawa Marine Devildogs in a service game. After two years in the Marines with duty in Viet Nam, Baylor had a tryout with the Kansas City Chiefs last year and played for the Bridgeport Jets of the Atlantic Coast League.

Stewart Former Jet

Tight end Wayne Stewart joined the Chargers as a free agent in 1974 after spending five years with the New York Jets.

"I will have a special feeling playing against the Jets," said the 6-7, 230-pound U.C. alumnus. "I have a lot of friends among their veterans and Al Woodall and I own a duplex in Newport Beach. But I'm happy to be home in California and playing for the Chargers."

Ironically, Stewart's most productive pro game came against the Chargers. In the last meeting between the teams, a 20-20 tie in a preseason game at San Diego, Stewart caught six passes and scored one touchdown.

Even without Joe Namath, the Jets will start an intriguing quarterback against the Chargers Saturday night. He is rookie John J. Jones from Fisk, a small Black school in Tennessee.

Free agent Jones, who won a spot on the team in a tryout camp, passed for two touchdowns against Denver. He will share duty against the Chargers with Bill Demory, who played briefly for the Jets in 1973.

New York has four experienced running backs — Mike Adamle, Hank Bjorklund, Dennis Cambal adn Joe Wylie. But it was a rookie fullback from Georgia, Bob Burns, who scored three touchdowns against the Broncos.

In the defensive line, the Jets have veterans Steve Thompson and John Little and No. 1 draft choice, Carl Barzilauskas, 6-6, 265, from Indiana.

All the New York kicking will be handled by former Charger rookie Don Svarc. After three training camps at San Diego and Washington, Svarc got his first field goal chance against Denver and connected from 38 yards.

Former head coach of the Cardinals, Winner took command of the Jets this year from his father-in-law Weeb Ewbank, who remained with the club as vice-president.

Next Week

The Chargers take their first road trip to Seattle to face the St. Louis Cardinals at the University of Washington Stadium Sunday at 1:30 p.m.

Heair, Hafey Highlight Friday's Coliseum Card

What is called a boxing bonanza has been carded for Friday night when Jimmy Heair and Art Hafey, two locally-based, world-ranked contenders, appear in separate main events at the downtown Coliseum. Action starts at 8 p.m. and are to be televised.

Heair, who easily outpointed Mexico's Lobito Montoya here on July 19th and then stayed to make Pacific Beach his home, will tangle with durable Nacho Castenada of Tijuana in one of the scheduled 10 rounders.

In a co-feature, Art Hafey, who is Heair's neighbor, duels with Delfino Rodriguez of Mexico City. Hafey is number four-ranked featherweight. Delfino's recent claim to fame is an easy victory (on two hours notice) over Jose Olivares, who has gone 30 rounds with Art in three fights.

All totaled, the Irish "Toy Tiger" sports a ring record 30-3-1 with 24 kayos, while the Mississippi-born Heair, rated fifth in the lightweight division, boasts a 36-1 slate.

Jimmy's only defeat came in a split decision against Rudy Barro of the Philippines after five months of inactivity. His opponent Castenada holds an impressive pro mark of 29-3.

In addition to Heair and Hafey, another top notch local prospect, undefeated San Diego High sensation Manuel Lujan, will head the undercard in a featherweight bout against Armando Mendietta of Bakersfield.

O'Halloran to Return

Promoter-matchmaker Mickey Davies also announced that Friday, Aug. 16th, California heavyweight king Howard "K.O." Smith will clash with ex-champion Irish Jack O'Halloran, currently on the comeback trail.

Another attraction on that show will be a scheduled 10-rounder between Mike Avans of Phoenix and San Diego's Marco Gerardo.

The previously unbeaten Avans was involved in the "Fight of the Year" here a few months back with Mexican middleweight boss Manuel Elizondo.

Last Week

What promised to be a good 10-round fight turned out to be as good as advertised, although Jimmy Robertson, the vaunted welterweight headed up the comeback trail, was unable to participate.

He was cut over the eye in workouts and matchmaker Mickie Davies had to find a replacement. He found Andy Price near ready in Los Angeles and with only hours to spare, Price took on Carlos Palomino — and beat him. It was a split decision favoring Price but this handicapper had it Price all the way.

In a companion 10-rounder, welterweight Randy Shields of N. Hollywood won his 11th straight fight since becoming a professional. He was awarded a technical KO at 1:54 of the 8th round over Rocky Cruz, of Acapulco, a veteran with a 27-2 record. Shields, trained by his Hollywood stuntman father, appears headed for the fistic top. He's only 18 years old and his opponents have not been stiffs.

the card which is being televised each Friday.

Alex Calderone knocked out Joey Boyd in the first round of a welterweight prelim fight. Kaiser Kimble took a split decision from Randy Miller in a middleweight fight and Julio Lopes of San Diego won a unanimous nod over Manuel Jiminez of Tijuana.

The card was good. Television lights and cameras loaned excitement to the proceedings.

Aztec Grid Squad Grows By Eight

Former high school All-Americas Mike Mitchell and Mike McGillis head a list of eight new football players who will check into fall practice at S.D. State on August 22, Aztec coach Claude Gilbert said.

Mitchell (6-4, 245) is expected to plug a hole in the offensive line either at guard or tackle. He is a former prep All-America at Los Altos High School in the San Francisco area. Mitchell enrolled at USC as a freshman, but left at midyear last year. He will be eligible for the Aztecs this season and will be a sophomore.

The other prep All-America is Mike McGillis. McGillis (6-1, 220) is a linebacker and will move into the strong inside slot in the Aztecs 3-4 Rip Defense. McGillis was a teammate of Mitchell's at Los Alto High School. but went to California as a freshman. He played two years at Cal and is eligible this season at San Diego State and will be a junior.

Three other bouts completed

Fullback Bill Fudge is another top player who will report later this month. Fudge (6-1, 225) was one of the finest runners ever to come out of San Diego when he played at El Capitan High School. In three years at El Capitan he gained over 2700 yards and was an All-CIF pick. Fudge went to USC as a freshman and played two years for the Trojans. He enters San Diego State as a junior.

The other new players are guard Mark Ensminger, defensive lineman Joe Ferrara, guard Mark Johnson, defensive back Winston Sharp and wide receiver Harold Williams.

Ensminger (6-2, 240) played at Pierce College last year and was an all-conference selection. He enters as a junior. Ferrara (6-2, 225) played at Mesa College in San Diego and enters as a sophomore. He prepped at Point Loma High School.

Johnson (6-2, 235) played last season at Grossmont College after playing as a prep at El Cajon High School. Johnson will be a junior. Sharp (5-11, 165) is a cornerback, who prepped at Lincoln High School in San Diego and played at University of San Diego and Mesa College. He will be a senior.

Williams (5-11, 170) is one of the top sprinters in the world with an official clocking of 9.3 in the 100-yard dash. In the National AAU Meet at UCLA this year he ran a 10.1 mile in the 100-meters which is equal to a 9.2 in 100 yards. Harold sprinted for Dick Hill on the San Diego State track team this year and won the Pacific Coast Athletic Association 220-yard dash. While a freshman at Texas (El Paso) he won the 100 and 220 yard dash titles. Williams attended Newton High School in Queens, New York, but his high school didn't play football. Harold will be a junior.

Bob Hope on Program For High School Grid Game

Bob Hope will be guest of honor at a charity football game at San Diego Stadium September 20.

Hope will entertain fans at half time of the game between University High and St. Augustine. Allen Kent, a San Diego businessman and father of the Charity Bowl carrying his name, said that it will be the only night high school football game this season. He said that 20,000 tickets had already been sold and the Stadium "will be a sell-out". The Stadium seats more than 50,000.

All seats are reserved and a flat $3.50 is being charged.

The game will start at 7 p.m. Part of the program will be a prize give-away with the major prize being a '75 Ford Torino, Kent said.

Proceeds will be used for Catholic High school athletic programs (See 'Take-Five').

Lomelin, Finito, Rivera Face Six Bulls Sunday

Three excellent toreros and a fine herd of bulls comprise the cartel Sunday at the bullring by the sea, Plaza Monumental de Tijuana.

Antonio Lomelin, Curro Rivera and Raul Contreras (Finito) will each face two bulls of the Curro Rivera ranch.

Finito, 28, of Chihuahua had a superb day in Tijuana in August, 1968 when he won a tail from one bull and an ear from his second.

On July 28, this year, Finito had another memorable faena. He opened his work with two cape passes on his knees, topped it off with extensive left-handed work. Such work shortens the width of the cape, bringing the bull closer to the matador.

Lomelin, 29, from Acapulco, has been fighting in Spain, where he has enjoyed fine campaigns.

Rivera, 22, of Mexico City, has exhibited some of the finest muleta work seen this summer in Tijuana in his May and July appearances.

Mariners Sign Lacroix

It appears there'll be no hockey in San Diego this year if Joseph Schwartz remains president of the San Diego Mariners.

The City Council banned him by rejecting a lease agreement between Schwartz, Peter Graham, operator of the Sports Arena, and the City of San Diego.

If the Mariners play in San Diego this year, fast-breaking events will be required—namely a switch in ownership. That's possible since two groups are in negotiations with Schwartz' lawyers.

Regardless of ownership, the team will have the World Hockey Association's all-time scoring leader on the roster.

Andre Lacroix, the record-holder, Monday signed a five-year contract with the Mariners.

"I'm very pleased with the contract and I'm looking forward to a fine season with the Mariners," said the 29-year-old center. "I think the San Diego fans are going to like us when they see us on the ice this year."

Lacroix captured the WHA scoring title in the loop's first season in 1972-73 with 50 goals and 74 assists for 124 points while a member of the Philadelphia Blazers. He finished second last year with 117 points on 57 goals and 60 assists playing for the Jersey Knights, since moved to San Diego.

His two-year league total of 235 points leads runnerup Danny Lawson of Vancouver by 29 points. He tops the WHA with 154 assists and is seventh in goals scored with 81. Lacroix has averaged 1.5 points per game for 156 league games.

Lacroix, who has been named as a member of the WHA all-star team which will oppose Russia in an eight game series beginning in September, has been an all-league pick in both his years with the WHA.

Terms of Lacroix's contract were not revealed.

Go-Cart Break-in

Six entertainment machines were damaged and money in the machines' cash boxes was taken by intruders who entered the Spring Valley Go Cart during the weekend.

Operator of the Go Cart, Charles Edward Gilbert, said damage to the machines amounted to $1,000 and cash estimated at $150-200, was taken, he told sheriff's deputies.

Padres on Final 'Road Trip East'

If the final road swing of the season for the Padres through the National League's Eastern Division doesn't have everyone humming snatches of "There's No Place Like Home", then nothing will.

In a whirlwind tour, not unlike a "see Europe in three days" package, the Padres will reel off 12 games in 13 days as they fulfill all of their obligations to the Eastern Division clubs on their home turf or polyturf, whatever the case may be.

The whole thing will get underway with three games with the Pirates in Pittsburgh, starting Friday. After that the Padres meet the Cardinals Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, take a day off on August 15 and then wind things up with games against the Cubs August 16-18 and the Expos August 19-21.

"From the looks of things we won't have a moment to ease up," Padre manager John McNamara said. "Not only is this our longest road trip of the season, but we'll be catching three of the four clubs right in the middle of the fight for the Eastern Division pennant. Actually, all four of the clubs have a shot at the flag ,but the Cubs will have to get hot to make up a lot of lost ground."

The travel part of this trip should not prove to be too much of a problem to the Padres as they are blessed with plenty of time in most instances, something that has been sadly lacking on past road jaunts.

"That might be about the only positive aspect of the whole trip," said McNamara. "We'll have a leisurely time getting to Pittsburgh since we're off August 7 and 8 and the skip from Pittsburgh to St. Louis is not too bad. Then, we have an off day to get from St. Louis to Chicago and then another relatively short hop from playing the Cubs to winding it up in Montreal.

"Lastly," the Padre boss added, "we'll have an off day coming back from Montreal on August 22 so we won't be flying coast to coast and having to play the same day as we have on several other occasions."

FROM THE BULLPEN: The last time the Padres were in Pittsburgh Ken Brett had a perfect game going for eight innings only to lose it in the ninth on a single by Fred Kendall ..... Speaking of Kendall, he's hit six home runs so far this season meaning that Parliament Builders, for whom he does promotional work, has already donated $600 to CHAD. The company donates $100 for evry home run he hits during the season ..... The Padres have been strictly a hometown team against both the Pirates and Cards so far. The Pads are 3-0 vs. St. Louis and 2-1 against the Bucs at home, but are 0-3 on the road against each club. Going into the final Eastern Division go-round, the Padres sport an overall mark of 28-23 against that section.

Crosby 'Cap Programmed For Del Mar on Saturday

Two of Del Mar's most historic stakes, the $20,000-added Bing Crosby Handicap and the $25,000-added La Jolla Mile, will climax the third week of thoroughbred competition at the seaside track when they are renewed Saturday and Sunday.

Prospects for the six-furlong Crosby Handicap on Saturday include such swift sprinters as Beira, upset winner of Hollywood Park's Premier Hadicap last April; Selecting, fresh from an impressive triumph; Tragic Isle, Palladium and Rise High.

Sunday's La Jolla Mile, prelude to the $40,0000-added Del Mar Derby, is expected to attract a classy line-up of three-year-olds, including Within Hail, a son of Hail to Reason trained by Charlie Whittingham; unbeaten Lightning Mandate, who will be risking his perfect five-for-five record, and Kafe Bush.

Wednesday's feature, the $15,000-added Junior Miss Stakes, will bring out the early favorite for the prestigious Del Mar Debutante, Miss Tokyo, and the Dewan filly is expected to rule a heavy favorite over her two-year-old filly rivals.

GOP Sponsors T.V. Spot on 'Optimism'

The Republican National Committee and GOP state organizations in California, Oregon and Washington will present a 90-minute television special in the three West Coast states on Thursday evening, August 8.

Entitled "Call to Action," the 90-minute program will be broadcast over ABC affiliated stations in Los Angeles, San Francisco, San Diego, Portland and Seattle from 8:30 to 10 p.m.

Although viewers will be asked to contribute, the Party's National Chairman, George Bush emphasized that "fund raising is not a major objective of the program. What we want to do is present the Republican Party as fundamentally strong, undeterred by Watergate, and optimistic about the future."

Late Start Seen for ABA

NEW YORK — The American Basketball Association will open its 1974-75 season on Oct. 18, matching the latest start in its eight-year history.

Not since the 1968-69 season has the ABA started so late—the season began on Oct. 10 last year.

The 84-game schedule will run until April 3. It went until March 28 last season. Twice before the season ran into April, as late as April 15 in 1969-70.

The divisional lineups remain the same as they did last season with St. Louis, after moving from Carolina, staying in the Eastern Division with New York, Kentucky, Virginia and Memphis.

The Western Division is composed of San Diego, Utah, Indiana, San Antonio, and Denver.

The playoff system also will continue with the first and fourth place teams in each division playing each other in a first round best-of-seven game series as will the second and third place teams. Those winners meet in each division in another best-of-seven game set for the division title, and the two division survivors then play a final series for the championship.

The San Diego Conquistadors home season schedule will be announced August 15.

The Qs named Bruce Binkowski, 25, the new Director of Public Relations. He held a similar position with the San Diego Gulls hockey team the past two years and before that worked with the San Diego and then Houston Rockets of the NBA. Dean Faris was rehired as Director of Sales and Ross Paul as Ticket Manager. The new club address is the San Diego Sports Arena, 3500 Sports Arena Blvd., San Diego, Calif. 92110. The telephone number will be (714) 225-9511.

Caliente 5-10 Jackpot Grows

TIJUANA — Interest is continuing to mount in Caliente's 5-10 reserve jackpot which increases each weekend that goes by without a sole winner.

Currently, the total amount in the 5-10 reserve pool is $62,925, which means someone could win over $100,000 this weekend by being the single winner.

The last time the 5-10 pool was taken by one person was June 22, when Alfonso Espinosa of Tijuana collected $51,000 by selecting six straight winners on a $2 ticket.

The record payoff in the Caliente 5-10 contest was made in May 1960, to Ziv Mayer of Tijuana and the amount was $98,063.80.

Each time the 5-10 pool is not taken by a lone winner, 10% of the amount in the handicapping contest is taken out and added to the jackpot.

Over the weekend, Caliente experienced the highest 5-10 pool to date with $62,336 wagered on Saturday and $58,-426 on Sunday. The total handle for the weekend also was up with $271,706 going through the machines Saturday and $269,689 on Sunday.

Last year, 30 percent of all households owned two or more cars, about 60 percent more than a decade ago, while household with no cars dropped rfom 24.3 percent to a level of 20.5 percent.

Calif. Places Ex-Offenders in State Government, Industry

An escrow officer convicted of grand theft served his prison sentence and became a credit manager in a large corporation. Starting at $1,000 a month, he was given the use of a credit card and company car.

A young woman convicted of second-degree burglary was imprisoned for 14 months. She is now employed as a secretary at ARCO, and moved from a salary of $600 per month to $800 in three months.

These are just two examples of the many job opportunities the State Employment Development Department offers ex-offenders.

Good said this week there was a 50 percent jump from fiscal year 1972-73 to 1973-74 in the placement of ex-offenders. 'Job-finds' in that category numbered 4354 this past year as compared to 2894 a year ago. The average starting wage for these ex-offenders was $2.63 an hour, as compared with $2.66 for the average male placement.

EDD also provides job training for prison inmates before they leave the institution. The Department provides for the development of inmates through such programs as vocational training, prevocational training, basic and secondary education, counseling, job development and placement activities, and supportive and follow-up services.

Mariners Sign Brent Hughes

A veteran National Hockey League player has been signed to a three-year contract beginning with the 1975-76 season by the World Hockey Assn. San Diego Mariners.

Brnt Hughes, a 31-year old six-feet, 205-pound defenseman, is currently the property of the NHL's Kansas City Scouts. He was obtained by Kansas City from the Detroit Red Wings in the fifth round of the recent NHL expansion draft.

"Brent is a good, solid player who should fit right into our pattern," said Mariner director of player personnel Ron Ingram.

Hughes, who can also play forward, has seen action in seven NHL seasons. He has performed with the Los Angeles Kings, Philadelphia Flyers, St. Louis Blues and Detroit.

His combined 1973-74 statistics with the Blues and Red Wings included one goal and 20 assists in 67 games with 88 penalty minutes.

He was originally drafted by Detroit from the Boston Bruins roster in 1965 and then obtained by Los Angeles in the 1967 NHL expansion draft.

He was signed by the New York Raiders in the WHA's 1972 selection draft but subsequently signed with the NHL Flyers. The Raiders later became the New York Golden Blades and then the Jersey Knights before being shifted to San Diego this year.

TAKE FIVE

By John E. Wirges

It happens to everybody, I suppose. You hum along in sweet repose, thinking you're doing a job, then smack... you run across a guy doing some of your fightin' for you.

Hats off to Allen Kent, the furniture magnate, for doing just that. He's taking on city hall folks, and doing a bang up job of it.

Now mostly it's a San Diego city fight and not all that "on the line" out here in the hinterland. But Power Politics can be contagious and what the San Diego Unified School Board does can happen here, there and elsewhere.

In brief, what those school dads did was to cut the heart out of high school athletics and other extra curricular activities. They did it the old fashioned way. They cut off the bucks.

It seems that Richard F. Kreile and his San Diego School Board do-gooders ordered an end to night high school football and basketball for the 74-75 season. They cited the energy crisis and violence as the seasons.

Of course, as we all know everytime we pull into a service station, the energy crisis was a figment of BIG OIL's profit building im agination. Now that petrol is up 20 cents a gallon not only is there more than plenty of gas but service station owners are getting dunned about pushing more sales.

The violence they cited was a shoving match between a couple of beer sipping Mesa students at a prep game. They could have pointed a finger at more serious doings, but that would have involved a racial mix and San Diego's school dads haven't got the guts for anything like that.

The reasons behind what Kreile and his mis-directed board did is not the issue here. Except that it's a warning to what could happen anywhere. And that's without even going into how Kreile and his bunch plan to spent $50,000 of tax money to cover a like amount of self-generated cash expected to be lost this year at the daylight gate.

Fie and Fig on Kreile and his narrow minded caucus. They are problems of elsewhere. Allen Kent is the guy. He's savin' what he can.

There are those who believe Allen Kent is really Clark's brother and also does a quick change act in telephone booths.

He can't do much for the public prep schools in San Diego, but he sure is doing one helluva lot to save the Augustine and the other Catholic high schools caught between a rock and a hard place by Kreile's crowd.

Kent has organized a SUPERBOWL for the Catholic Championship between Uni and Saints to be held Friday night, Sept. 20 at San Diego Stadium.

And he s got none other than Bob Hope, the guy who never forgot servicemen when they were in hot or lonely places; the guy who played as hard for privates as for generals; the guy who puts real meaning into his last name.... that very same Bob Hope, to entertain at half time.

Plans are underway for a pre-game cocktail party for some of the game's backers to meet and greet with Sir Robert and there's still time to get in on the doings.

And somebody is going to that game in the family bus and drive home in a 1975, brand spankin' new Ford. Now ain't that somethin'.

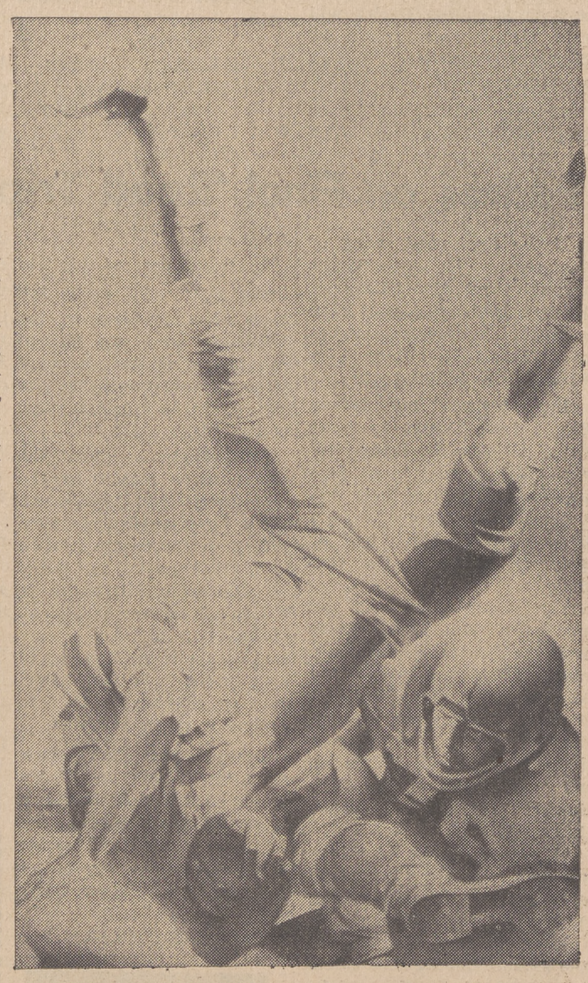

Tickets are just $3.50 each (no comps, please) and are on sale at 30 Dean's Photo stalls, the Padres' Ticket office up at A-1 level in the Big Ball Park, and at Allen Kent's furniture digs at 40th and El Cajon.

The game ought to be a dilly... there ain't nuthin' sacred about the way those Catholic kids commit mayhem on each other—the cause is just — and Bob Hope is enough reason all by its own self.

Come on out and pop for that $3.50 guys and girls, let's make this a sell out to end all sellouts. It might put San Diego on the map with the solvin' of a major problem by popular support.

And as for Richard F. Kreile and his 'spendin' tax-money-to-cover-edict losing-self-generated-funds" philosophy... Well. Did you ever wonder why citizens keep votin' down school bond issues?

And aint you glad you live in Lemon Grove and here abouts?

FOOTBALL IN ART — This reproduction of a football action painting by Artist Lon Keller is one of 40 comprising "The Golden Age Revisited," original sports paintings from the 1930's to the present by the New York artist often referred to as "the Norman Rockwell of Sports." They will be on view at the California State Museum of Science and Industry, Los Angeles, through September 29.

Wes Marden in Race Against Van Deerlin

Marden, a Republican who lives in Chula Vista, admitted that "overcoming an entrenched incumbent is tough".

"I'll do it like Van Deerlin did to become congressman. He met virtually voter in his district," Marden said.

Another obstacle, Marden said, is money. "The incumbent will have about 30 times as many dollars to spend in his campaign as I."

"That's not too bad, though. In some cases the odds are 1,000 to 1."

He said money is needed for mailing. "It costs $12,000 to a full coverage mailer to all who live in the 42nd Congressional District."

What do I tell people during my tours? "I remind them that congress has turned this country into a federal dictatorship; they've cretaed inflation by deficit spending. Who's to blame? The Democrats. We've had a Democrat congress since 1940—except for a short period when President Eisenhower was in office.

"People don't realize that these conditions stem from the Democrats. Much of what they are doing is hidden by Watergate," he said.

Spring Valley Man in 'Pot' Charge Here

A deputy marshal serving a warrant for a traffic violation at 763 Felicita st. in Spring Valley, became the informant and witness in a marijuana charge Friday.

The marshal seeking to serve the warrant at the address saw various marijuana paraphernalia on the living room table when an occupant opened the door.

Sheriff's deputies answering the marshal's all charged Kenneth Mader, 29, with possession of marijuana and equipment.

Police confiscated 14 pipes; a cigarette rolling machine; several roach clips; 18 grams of marijuana and a revolver.

Mader readily admitted the material belonged to him. He was arraigned Monday.

Robert Ramsey, for whom the warrant was issued, was not at that address.

Construction Layoffs Push Cal. Unemployment Rate to 7.5%

The largest work stoppage in California's history, the recently settled trade dispute in the construction industry, was blamed today for a jump in the State's unemployment rate from 7.5 percent in June to 7.8 percent in July.

Rich Camilli, Director of Employment Development Department said 90,700 workers (about 1 percent of the State's entire labor force) were involved in the dispute when the monthly employment survey was taken.

"The survey results are therefore clearly distorted and no direct comparison with the previous month would be reasonable," Camilli said. "All other major industries showed employment increases approximately in line with expectations with the exception of education which is routinely down at this time of the year as school vacations begin."

Dr Jonas Salk of the Salk Institute for Biological Studies was a recent recipient of $115,000 from the March of Dimes to continue a program to manipulate two known types of immunological cells.

RETURN OF TRADITION — The San Diego City-County Band will perform a "mini-season" of concerts at the Organ Pavillion in Balboa Park, August 14 and 21, at 8 p.m. Under the direction of Merle Coady, the band will perform music especially selected to demonstrate the versatility of the band. These concerts in the park will be a return to a valued tradition of the past — The Band Concert in the Park. The "mini-season" of concerts is planned to demonstrate the popularity and value of the concert in the park as a part of the community's culture. The members of the band are among the finest musicians in San Diego. They are chosen through strict auditions from the ranks of local professional musicians. Over half of the musicians are either members of the San Diego Symphony or have been in the past, with others achieving prominence in the orchestras for opera, ballet, music comedy and traveling road shows.

Alcoholism Center Expands; To Open Area Satellites

San Diego County's Alcoholism Treatment Center has expanded its program to include evening and weekend clinic hours.

The new hours are 6 to 9 p.m. Tuesdays, Wednesdays, and Thursdays. Saturday hours will be from 9 a.m. to noon.

The treatment center is at 3776 Fourth ave., in San Diego.

When the expanded program becomes stable, satellite clinics in the North coastal, North inland, East and Southeast areas of the County will be opened. Satellites will operate one day a week for two hours, according to Dr. Francis Morgan, Chief of the Center.

The treatment center is primarily to evaluate, diagnose and treat the voluntary alcoholic patient. Relatives of the drinking person are also encouraged to participate in the treatment program.

Some services offered by the center includes: educational group therapy and lectures, medical consultation, physical examinations, medications when indicated, individual psychotherapy and marriage counseling.

Those wishing specific information about the services offered call the Center at 236-3656.

Auto Battle At El Cajon Race Oval

The battle continues for supremacy at Cajon Speedway and it has become noticeably tougher each week to win a main.

Young Mark Stahl of Chula Vista could be the driver to beat Saturday night as the super stocks engage in another fender - banging 30-lap main event on the three-eighths of a mile, banked asphalt oval.

The 16th speed show of the season will begin with qualifying rounds for some 60 racers at 6:30. A four car, four lap trophy dash opens the program at 8.

The drivers will move along with four, eight-lap heats, a 10 lap consolation, and 15 lap semi-main prior to the feature.

As an added attraction, the gals will be back for another Powder Puff race.

Ron Overman, who finished fifth in last week's main, had a few points clipped from his championship lead with Gary Crossland moving into the second slot, ahead of Stahl and defending titleholder Pat McIntyre of Spring Valley.

McIntyre could not get his Nova in the 17-second bracket, fouling a cylinder, and was strictly a semi-main competitor.

Jim Hitt, of Lemon Grove. trying to regain a title he won in 1971, damaged his car in a north turn accident while Larry Aufdengarten and Bobby Rolnad were well back in the pack.

The crash wall crew, a busy 15 man staff this season, had to turn to last Sunday for extensive repair work to the damaged walls.

Stahl last week became the second driver to win three features this year but the first to claim back-to-back victories. Hitt is the only other to take three main events.

Last week's feature saw two other leaders before Stahl took over. Mike Greenwell led the first 10 laps and Mark Norris held the advantage for the next 12 laps.

Grove Man Found Dead

The body of Norman Lindell, 53, of 7555 High st., Lemon Grove, was found last week beside the roadway on Highway 79, about three miles north of Old Highway 80.

Lindell was a real estate broker and a resident of Lemon Grove.

He was clutching a small box that contained medicine needed for his heart condition.

Lindell's body was found approximately 150 feet from his car, which had broken-down, after he had apparently started off for help.

The coroner said he died of a heart attack.

Beer, Guitar Taken

Burglars entered the home of Thomas E. Shipp, 121 Arroyo ave., Spring Valley Sunday night and made off with a six-pack of beer, some food, and a guitar. The loss was valued at $130, Shipp told the sheriff's department.

School Board Policy Body Holds Parley

School board members from this area were delegates at a policy-making meeting of the California School Boards Association in San Diego July 27-28.

H. Warren Buckner, Lemon Grove, was a local delegate.

An affirmative action employment policy and seven other entirely new policies affecting school boards in all of California were adopted at this session by the Delegate Assembly, the governing body of the Association.

New policies were adopted on aid to non-public schools and on career education. Five new policies enacted are related to the specific problems of minority students and deal with: 1) inservice training of teachers in ethnic history; culture and current problems of minority students, 2) accurate student evaluation, 3) efforts to reduce dropouts, 4) coordinated school and community action to prevent crime, violence and vandalism in schools, and 5) bilingual cross-cultural education.

Policies were revised in the areas of drug abuse, equal educational opportunity and selection of library materials, textbooks and instructional materials.

Grove Girl Charged in 'Overdose'

Nancy Kathryn Benoit, 19, of 1865 Eldora st., Lemon Grove, charged with being under the influence of drugs; possession of narcotics; possession of marijuana and possession of paraphernalia, was booked in County Jail Sunday.

Sheriff's deputies said that her brother, Lynn Rotchstein, same address, had called police Sunday when his sister threatened suicide to a boy friend by phone.

He told police she had taken an overdose of drugs.

Arresting officers siad she had the appearance of an overdose victim but tests showed only that she had ingested drugs.

In her possession at home police confiscated 3½ grams of heroin; 2½ grams of marijuana; 5 tablespoons of marijuana seeds and various paraphernalia for using both heroin and marijuana.

She was arraigned in El Cajon Municipal Court Monday and made eligible for a diversion hearing. At that hearing it will be decided what disposition to make of the charge. One possibility is a 6-24 months anti-drug program.

New Manager For Cafe del Rey Moro

John and Sue Cox, owners of Cafe del Rey Moro in Balboa Park, one of San Diego's historic landmarks, have appointed Alfred Huete as manager.

Huete was assistant manager of Mission Valley Inn and prior to that was food and beverage manager of the Hacienda Hotel in Las Vegas.

Business Bureau Hits 'No Refund' Policy

Unless the seller makes perfectly clear on the lay-away agreement and on subsequent payment receipts that there will be "no refund," he is obligated to cancel the contract and return all money at the request of the buyer. So, if a store does have a "no refund" policy on lay-aways, it had better double check to make sure it is stated on all information given to the buyer. If it isn't, and the store refuses to refund, it could be subject to civil penalties under the Truth in Lending Act.

Homeowners' Exemption Claims Still Accepted — With Penalty

The County Assessor, like the Tax Collector, is reputed to have a heart of stone.

Not so, says E. C. "Chuck" Williams, who is legally and morally responsible for seeing that every property owner gets a fair shake. Property must be valued at current market value: no more, no less, says Williams.

But the assessor has another concern that suggests that there is a softness in the heart that beats beneath the assessor's badge. This has to do with the Homeowners' Property Tax Exemption.

If you haven't filed yet, all may not be lost. Recent State legislation extended the late filing date from June 15 to December 1, 1974, he says.

The rules for eligibility remain the same. To qualify for the Homeowners' Exemption you must have owned and occupied your home on March 1, 1974, and it must be your principal place of residence.

To date, 2,845 persons have filed for the reduction of 80% of the exemption allowed by filing late, but it is the opinion of the Assessor that there may still be eligible homeowners who have not filed.

According to Williams, many of the late filings are accompanied by imaginative excuses, some of which are classics.

Alibis Noted

One taxpayer wrote a note with her late application stating that, "while waxing my kitchen floors, I came across the claim form under the refrigerator. I guess the card must have fallen off the table and floated under the refrigerator."

A man in the North County had a unique experience with his claim. "I was assisting my wife in moving our living room furniture and there was an envelope under the sofa. To my dismay, it contained my claim form. I figured that when the mailman put the envelope in the front door mail slot, it slid across the waxed floor and under the sofa."

A La Jolla man claimed he filed his claim in with some other important papers to take to his accountant. "By the time the accountant got the papers and got around to going over them, the deadline for filing had passed."

Another property owner said, "I relied too heavily on my tax consultant, who had me fill out the form but who then, instead of mailing it, filed it away. He cost me 20% of the exemption."

Help Available

"In most cases," Williams added, "the property owner simply misplaces, overlooks, or loses the claim card. Whatever the case, these people should come in to our office and receive a new exemption claim and assistance from our staff in filling it out."

Persons who filed before April 15 received the full exemption of $7,000 market value ($1,750 assessed value). Those filing before December 1, and who qualify, will receive the reduced exemption of $5,600 market value ($1,400 assessed value) on their 1974 property taxes.

Filing this year for the 1974 Homeowners' Exemption has further significance since in many cases this filing will continue to be effective for future years.

Under a recent change in the law, refiling is unnecessary unless the property changes hands or the owner moves, in which case it is the responsibility of the new property owner to so notify the Assessor and refile for the exemption.

2-Way Radio Taken

Carl William Weber Jr, of 1644 La Corta, Lemon Grove, told sheriff's deputies Saturday that a two-way radio had been stripped from his truck which was locked and parked in front of his home.

He set his loss at $330 for equipment and minor damage which occurred when the thief broke into the cab.

mained near the spring — but that was almost his undoing. In a shootout between two residents, the captain, a bystander, was accidently shot in the abdomen.

When the 57-year old captain was treated by a physician, he was said to have the blood quality of a 25-year old youth. This was attributed to the drinking of water from Sweetwater Springs.

Immediately thereafter, load after load of water was distributed from the spring to all parts of the civilized globe.

By now the property was in the hands of Alfred H. Isham, whose name was given to the springs about 1900. A comely lady, suffering from falling hair, came from Philadelphia to San Diego to try the properties of the water for her problem. The treatment cured her, the story indicates. She stayed on and soon married Isham but died in 1904 of pneumonia.

Shortly thereafter Isham fell on hard times because of a bank failure, his profligate habits, and an article in COLLIER'S WEEKLY which pictured him as a fraud and a quack.

Isham continued to run sensational and ridiculous advertising regarding his "Spring of Eternal Youth" and his clients began to lose faith. His business practices became lax and mismanagement was evident. Few people could get orders filled. At 60 years of age his health gave way and he died in 1910.

Others came into control of the springs but none operated successfully.

Hansen became owner of the property about 50 years ago — and even then, he had homesites in mind.

If he had lived, all of his dreams probably would have come true. Only his scheduling was wrong. His timetable was about 30 years too long.

Funeral services were held for Hansen July 31.
